Thanks Millan! I'll pass out the draft dip note to you to double check in just a second. One thing to note – the Thursday afternoon Vatican tours have separate locations. The Vatican library is accessed through the Sant'Anna gate / Belvedere courtyard while the Scavi office is on the south side of St. Peter's basilica. Maria said in her email to meet her group at the Residenza Paulo VI hotel at 4:50pm (right next to the Vatican) and to enter the Vatican on foot from there for the Scavi tour.

However, rather than exiting the Sant'Anna gate and driving around to the hotel, it might be easier to access the Scavi tour office from inside the Vatican, driving from the Belvedere courtyard to the Scavi office by circling around St. Peter's Basilica. If that sounds good to you, I can explain this to Maria and include that movement request in our dip note to the Vatican.

Apologies for the extra info in this document. Hopefully it will open for you this time. This is updated version as well.
